

Animally: An application designed to provide better access to animal protection for local residents.

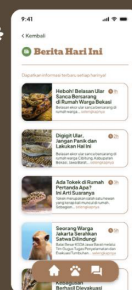

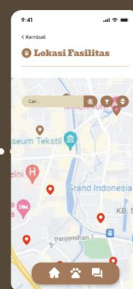

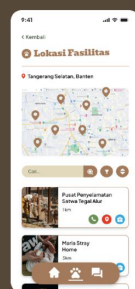

Animally

Animally is an application designed to provide better access to animal protection for local residents, while also maintaining and encouraging a community where users can discuss and stay updated with the latest news on stray animals. With Animally, users can know who to contact in case of an emergency related to stray animals, because we provide access to the nearest animal help and care stations that users can reach out to. Additionally, the discussion forums and community in Animally support increased awareness among users about wild animals in Indonesia and events involving wildlife.

I Features

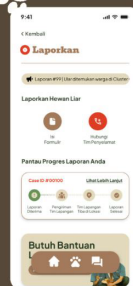

AN INOVATIVE APP CREATED
BASED ON REAL LIFE ISSUE

News
Users have access to the latest news and information regarding wild animals in the News section.

Animal Center

Provides a list of animal centers available by nearest location and by search. Users are granted access to information on various animal centers including locations on the map and phone numbers (with an easy dial button).

Community Forum

Users are also able to engage with other users in the Community Forum by posting and interacting with other users' posts.

Rescue

Quickly and easily report an animal sighting or situation in need of assistance from the nearest animal rescue and care facility. In urgent cases, Animally will automatically connect the user to the closest animal center for a prompt report.

I Our Target

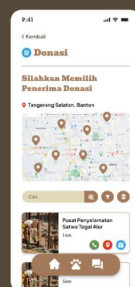

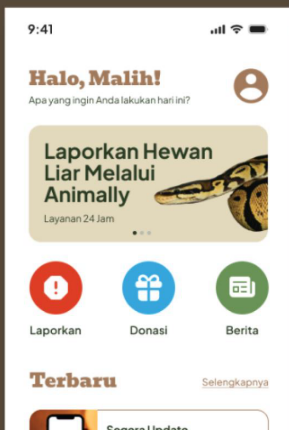

Wild and stray animals may find themselves in places they shouldn't be in this modern society, endangering both the animal and the local residents.

This app is designed for users who are highly aware of animals and environmental issues. This app also targets users who struggle with and lack the knowledge to handle urgent situations related to stray animals.

I USP

What sets our application Animally apart is that it has no direct competitors, making it a unique and innovative resource for addressing issues related to stray and wild animals.

Donate

Support the cause by donating to their favored animal center

ID 585 Animally: An Application Designed to Provide Better Access to Animal Protection for Local Residents

Felita Angelia, Theresia Ribka Pancarani, Gabrielle Nikita Rane, Fiorenzen Chanesha

This society is no longer built for animals to roam around freely. There are many cases where wild and stray animals find themselves in places they shouldn't be, endangering both the animal and the local residents. A conclusion that has been made suggests a solution in the form of a platform or application that makes it easier and quicker for the public to handle stray animals. The main goal of this application is to work as a medium for the community and animal controls, in order to provide an environment where stray animals can be taken care of while also maintaining a comfortable space for every citizen to live in. Animally is an application designed to provide better access to animal protection for local residents, which also encourages a community where users can discuss and stay updated with the latest news on stray animals. With Animally, users will know who to contact in the case of an emergency related to stray animals, as the application provides access to the nearest animal help and care stations that users can reach out to. Additionally, the discussion forums and community in Animally support increased awareness among users about wild animals in Indonesia and events involving wildlife.

